Supporting a Struggling Jewish Community and Yaldeinu

Bolivia is the poorest country in South America. Nearly two-thirds of its people live in poverty, including one-third who live in conditions of extreme poverty.

Once a strong and vibrant community of 10,000 people, Bolivia's Jewish community, which lives in the capital city of La Paz, currently has only 200 inhabitants. The community is organized by the Circulo Israelita. Funds raised through Morrow's Voice will establish and supplemental Jewish school in La Paz and provide funding for a student Aid Mission to Bolivia in the summer of 2009.
